A RUSSIAN REVOLT.

PEASANTS IN LOWER RUSSIA FIGHT-ING FOR FREEDOM.

Nine Thousand Troops Operating Against Them-All Their Rights Abolished-A Prisoner Hastily Executed.

Thy Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.1 LONDON, October 29,-The Telegraph's correspondent says the Minister of the Interior has received a telegram containing alarming accounts of a casants' revolt in the Kharkaur and Vakatvinaseky-Lav districts in southern Russia. Nine thousand troops are operating against the peasants in the Bogo dookhor district who refuse to betray their leaders, and declare they will not relapse into serfdom, preterring instead to die fighting. The peasants are prowling about in bands, firing and pillaging the land-owners' residences. They have burned 5,000 acres of forests on the river Mamaria, and have destroyed immense Chantities of corn in Bakmyctaky.
